As a general rule, if a temporary structure is regularly or routinely used to hold or house residents, or if the temporary structure is used to house or support operational functions for more than a short period of time (e.g., an emergency situation), it should be included in the overall count of buildings.	2

Number of resident housing units: Enter 0 if the facility does not have discrete housing units. DOJ PREA Working Group FAQ on the definition of a housing unit: How is a "housing unit" defined for the purposes of the PREA Standards? The question has been raised in particular as it relates to facilities that have adjacent or interconnected units. The most common concept of a housing unit is architectural. The generally agreed-upon definition is a space that is enclosed by physical barriers accessed through one or more doors of various types, including commercial-grade swing doors, steel sliding doors, interlocking sally port doors, etc. In addition to the primary entrance and exit, additional doors are often included to meet life safety codes. The unit contains sleeping space, sanitary facilities (including toilets, lavatories, and showers), and a dayroom or leisure space in differing configurations. Many facilities are designed with modules or pods clustered around a control room. This multiple-pod design provides the facility with certain staff efficiencies and economies of scale. At the same time, the design affords the flexibility to separately house residents of differing security levels, or who are grouped by some other operational or service scheme. Generally, the control room is enclosed by security glass, and in some cases, this allows residents to see into neighboring pods. However, observation from one unit to another is usually limited by angled site lines. In some cases, the facility has prevented this entirely by installing one-way glass. Both the architectural design and functional use of these multiple pods indicate that they are managed as distinct housing units.	1

Audit Findings

Audit Narrative

The audit of the RSI Newport News (RSINN) facility was conducted on October 28, 2019 by Ian Rachal, Department of Justice certified PREA auditor. Prior to the commencement of the on-site audit, supporting documentation was delivered to this auditor by agency officials for review. Documentation reviewed included agency and facility forms, policies, training curricula, educational materials, and other PREA-related documents demonstrating compliance with the PREA standards.

Upon arrival to the facility, an introductory meeting was held with facility leadership to answer questions and provide expectations for the audit process. I was afforded the use of a private office to interview facility personnel. The on-site audit of RSINN lasted for one day. A comprehensive tour was conducted of the facility physical plant by this auditor, escorted by facility officials. Observed was the facility configuration, location of cameras and mirrors, staff supervision of residents, room layout including shower/toilet areas, placement of posters and PREA informational resources, security monitoring, resident entrance and search procedures, and resident programming.

Showers and bathrooms were outfitted with partitions and curtains for privacy. The tour of the compound commenced with a visit to the intake area along with visits to the inmate entrance, dayroom, inmate sleeping rooms, and bathroom facilities. Each area was adequately supervised by security personnel. There were multiple staff members present in all areas with numerous cameras and mirrors to assist in supervisory efforts, mitigating any potential blind spots. The dayroom area had educational materials in multiple formats to include English and Spanish. Inmate phones were checked to ensure reporting capabilities. Numerous offenders were interviewed, and all inmates expressed that staff had been responsive to their needs and respectful in their dealings.

RSI provides numerous numbers for the public to privately report sexual abuse and sexual harassment of inmates. All RSINN staff interviewed displayed knowledge of PREA responsibilities and could articulate the meaning of RSI's zero tolerance policy. RSINN staff was knowledgeable about their roles and responsibilities in the prevention, reporting and response to sexual abuse and sexual harassment. RSINN staff articulated reporting mechanisms for inmates and staff to use to report sexual abuse or sexual harassment. All staff were well trained on the PREA first responder's protocols and could clearly articulate the steps they would follow if they were the first responder to an incident.

Residents interviewed responded that RSINN personnel treated them with respect. Residents were well-versed in RSI's reporting mechanisms and efforts to protect them from sexual abuse and harassment. RSI has numerous mechanisms in place for inmates, their families, and the general public to report allegations and receive information in regard to PREA and receive assistance for underlying issues of sexual victimization or predatory behaviors. This auditor was allowed to speak freely with all residents and staff during my visit and was treated in a very hospitable fashion.

Facility Characteristics

The RSINN facility is a one-floor community corrections facility, located in Newport News, VA. The facility entrance is monitored by security personnel which leads into an open dayroom/cafeteria. Residents share rooms of two-four beds. There are onsite laundry and food services. Administrative offices are located adjacent to the main dayroom.

Instructions for Overall Compliance Determination Narrative

All residents are assessed during an intake screening for risk of being sexually abused by other residents or sexually abusive toward other residents. Intake screenings take place within 72 hours of arrival at RSINN. RSI uses an objective screening instrument.

The intake screening considers, at a minimum, the following criteria to assess residents for risk of sexual victimization:

- (1) Whether the resident has a mental, physical, or developmental disability;
- (2) The age of the resident;
- (3) The physical build of the resident;
- (4) Whether the resident has previously been incarcerated;
- (5) Whether the resident's criminal history is exclusively nonviolent;
- (6) Whether the resident has prior convictions for sex offenses against an adult or child;
- (7) Whether the resident is or is perceived to be gay, lesbian, bisexual, transgender, intersex, or gender nonconforming;
- (8) Whether the resident has previously experienced sexual victimization;
- (9) The resident's own perception of vulnerability; and
- (10) Whether the resident is detained solely for civil immigration purposes.

The initial screening considers prior acts of sexual abuse, prior convictions for violent offenses, and history of prior institutional violence or sexual abuse, as known to RSI, in assessing residents for risk of being sexually abusive.

An resident's risk level is reassessed when warranted due to a referral, request, incident of sexual abuse, or receipt of additional information that bears on the resident's risk of sexual victimization or abusiveness.

Residents are asked if they wish to divulge their sexual orientation in addition to the reviewing personnel's perception. Within 30 days from the resident's arrival at RSINN, RSI reassesses all resident's risk of victimization or abusiveness based upon any additional, relevant information received by RSI since the intake screening.

Residents are not disciplined for refusing to answer, or for not disclosing complete information in response to, questions asked.

RSI has implemented appropriate controls on the dissemination within RSINN of responses to questions asked pursuant to this standard in order to ensure that sensitive information is not exploited to the resident's detriment by staff or other residents. All files are controlled by Classification personnel behind locked doors and maintained in each residents Classification files.

Instructions for Overall Compliance Determination Narrative

RSI uses information from the risk screening to decide housing, bed, work, education, and program assignments with the goal of keeping separate those residents at high risk of being sexually victimized from those at high risk of being sexually abusive.

RSI makes individualized determinations about how to ensure the safety of each resident. In deciding housing and programming for a transgender or intersex resident RSI considers on a case-by-case basis whether the placement would ensure the resident's health and safety, and whether the placement would present management or security problems.

Placement and programming assignments for each transgender or intersex resident is reassessed at least twice each year to review any threats to safety experienced by the resident.

A transgender or intersex resident's own view with respect to his or her own safety are given serious consideration.

RSI does not place lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, or intersex residents in dedicated facilities, units, or wings solely on the basis of such identification or status.
